

remember that distinctly. I don't just remember what train they took, but I remember I took them up on that day.

Q When did they come back -- all right.

A I will get to that.

BY MR. PALZER:

A (continuing) Now, these things, of course, happened four years ago; it is pretty hard to remember the exact time. So that Tuesday I drove them to Point Pleasant, and I know that I stayed around Lavalette that day and the next day because in a little diary that I have I have a casual mention of fish that was caught, caught one maybe on Tuesday, and one on Wednesday.

BY MR. STUDER:

Q Have you that diary still?

A I have that diary.

Q Where is that?

A Mrs. Stevens has charge of it. I think it is in a safe deposit vault. We have that little diary.

BY MR. PALZER:

A (continuing) I don't just remember what the items in the diary were because it was not a continuous diary; it was simply a memorandum of little things that were of interest to me, and a memorandum of fish
